

With increasing oversight by the Charity Commission, every charity trustee needs to be evaluating governance and compliance.

The bedrock of good governance is access to critical organisational risk insights. That's where ESG reporting comes into the picture.

Charities also face specific environmental regulatory compliance headaches, like as SECR and ESOS reporting. These reports must be timely and complete: there's no room for error.

ESG Pro understands these challenges, and bring the depth and breadth of professional resources to ensure you can navigate them to perfection.
