The Client

Chemical Corporation Ltd. is a long-established UK distributor of oils, lubricants, and chemical products, supplying industrial, automotive, and commercial customers nationwide. As an authorised ExxonMobil distributor, the company provides recognised premium brands alongside a wider range of cleaning and maintenance solutions. With more than forty years of experience, Chemical Corporation has built a strong reputation for quality, compliance, and dependable customer partnerships.

The Challenge

In 2024, one of Chemical Corporation's key customers required the business to obtain EcoVadis accreditation within six months. Although the company had strong operational systems, sustainability reporting and policy development were new areas for the team. With no prior ESG experience, Claire Bellavia and Jody Greene faced the challenge of building new monitoring processes and gathering extensive evidence, all while managing their existing full-time roles.

The Solution

ESG Pro worked with Chemical Corporation to guide the team through the EcoVadis process from start to finish. Weekly meetings provided structure, clarity, and steady progress. ESG Pro helped develop sustainability policies, formalise measurement systems, and align documentation across all four EcoVadis pillars, Environment, Labour & Human Rights, Ethics, and Sustainable Procurement. Acting as an extension of the internal team, ESG Pro simplified complex requirements and offered practical solutions that fit around day-to-day operations.

The Result

Chemical Corporation achieved Silver EcoVadis accreditation, confirming its commitment to sustainability and strengthening relationships with key customers. The process introduced measurable KPIs, stronger governance, and better collaboration around ESG. The accreditation now streamlines supplier compliance, replacing lengthy questionnaires with a single recognised certification. Building on this success, the company plans to target Gold status in 2026 and further embed sustainability across its operations.
